County Budget Approved; Tax Rate Increased 4c

A record $81 million budget for Prince Georges County was approved April 14 by the Board of County Commissioners, who voted a tax increase of 4 cents per $100 valuation to finance it.

Slashing departmental requests by a little over $2 million, the Commissioners set the County levied real estate tax for the upcoming fiscal year at $2.68 per $100. As proposed, the departmental budget would have called for a 28-cent tax boost.

For Greenbelters whose property has undergone some upward reassessment, the small increase in the tax rate will result in a proportionately greater increase in dollar tax outlays.

Commission Chairman Frank J. Lastner said "the Board has managed to increase the services in every department of the County government to keep up with the continually increasing demands made upon this government by a population increasing at a rate of nearly 800 persons each week."

"We have worked six weeks on this budget," he added, "and have kept in mind the need for increased services, but at the same time kept before us the relationship with the ability of our citizens to pay for these increased services."

Largest single cut in the budget came in school requests, which were reduced by an even $1 million, but the new budget still provides an increase of nearly $8 million for the new school year's operating costs.

Greenbelt To Elect Five Co-op Candidates

Balloting for five members of the Greenbelt delegation of Consumers Services (Co-Op) will begin tonight at the annual membership meeting which follows the baked chicken dinner at the Jewish Community Center. The balloting will continue through Friday and Saturday at the Supermarket during regular store hours.

Voting by proxy is provided for in the by-laws of the organization and proxy forms can be secured at the store. A member is limited, however, to voting three proxies of other members.

Instructions for voting will be available at the ballot box and care should be taken to make sure you follow instructions as the procedure is not "usual." After marking your ballot you are to seal it in the envelope provided, print your name and address at right end of a gummed label and attach it to the envelope by the label's left end only, at the envelope's upper right hand end, so that it can be removed to insure secrecy of your ballot.

The candidates are Mat Amberg, Mary Barstow, Kenneth Buker, George Phibbs, Si Pristoop, Ethel Rosenzweig, and Marcella Walder.

Make-up Clinics for Polio

Those persons who were unable to take the Type I Sabin vaccine last Sunday, will have an opportunity to do so at the make-up polio clinics on Friday evening from 6 to 9 p.m. at Bladensburg Senior High School, 56th Avenue and Tilden Road, Bladensburg and Francis Scott Key Junior High, 71st Avenue and Atwood, District Hts.

Last Sunday, 5,954 persons received the Sabin vaccine at Center School. In Prince Georges County more than half the total population, 254,000 residents, participated in the largest single one-day preventive medicine campaign ever staged in the Metropolitan Washington Area.

Council Keeps Officer At Rte 193 Intersection

The city council at its regular meeting Monday night directed the city manager to continue the practice of assigning a police officer to direct traffic at the intersection of Southway and Greenbelt Road (Route 193) near the bridge over the Parkway during morning rush hour or approximately 7:30 to 8 a.m.

A police officer was posted there on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week as an experiment to see whether it speeded the flow of traffic turning left from Southway into Greenbelt Road (to go over the Parkway bridge to Glenn Dale Road) or turning left from Greenbelt Road into Southway. The police reports that there was a difference in the number of cars stacked up (about eight) with or without a police officer directing traffic there.

The report, however, noted that there was a definite hazard to the officer and that the officer on duty "was nearly run down on Thursday morning by a woman driver." The report further noted that two men should be placed at the intersection, such as is practiced in front of S. Kleins store.

It was also stated that an officer on duty cannot respond to an emergency call since he cannot receive a call and that therefore an extra man must be placed on duty during that period. Councilman Dave Champion, however, commented that the waiting time for cars at the intersection was considerably cut down by a police officer directing traffic there, and the council members unanimously instructed the city manager to continue the assignment of an officer there unless it was found to be too hazardous for the officer.

LITTLE LEAGUE CHATTER

by "Dale" Parrish

The long awaited opening day for the Greenbelt Little League Baseball Season is almost here at last. Sunday, April 26, is the starting day for the 1964 season. At 1 p.m. there will be a parade of the Little League Baseball Teams to McDonald Field. After the opening ceremonies, the baseball game between the City Champions, the Tigers, and the American League Champions, the Athletics, will commence at 2 p.m. Come on out to the games and cheer on the teams of your choice this season. The Farm Team Director still needs some helpers and coaches for the Minor Little League Teams. Anyone interested should contact Bud Davis, President, at 474-6025, or Norman McCarthy, Farm Team Director, at 474-8946.

Teen Club News

This Saturday, April 25 at 8 p.m. there will be a record hop at the Youth Center. At this dance, the annual election of officers will take place.

All the teens are reminded that the trip to the New York World's Fair is fast approaching. The deadline for the club to give the money to the bus company is April 25. Interested teens should contact Mary Barcus in order to reserve a seat on the bus. If there is not enough interest shown by the members, the trip will have to be opened to guests at a higher fare. However, non-members must be guests of members. Permission slips will be issued. Teens must act now!

MNCPPC Replies To Mayor On Master Plan

An exchange of correspondence between Mayor Edgar L. Smith and officials of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission has apparently revealed that plans for a high density area in the Glenn Dale - Good Luck area were adopted by MNCPPC without additional public hearings.

In explanation for this action, MNCPPC stated that a series of 8 public hearings on the General master plan were held a year ago. It felt that no additional hearings were needed since the MNCPPC's Expediting Committee, which was reexamining the Master Plan, took into full account all testimony and communications received in the period following the public hearings.

The Expediting Committee concurred in the recommendation that the Glenn Dale - Good Luck area be earmarked for high density zoning, in accordance with the staff's proposal for Planning Area 13. On January 22, 1964, the full MNCPPC adopted the General Plan, thus automatically accepting the recommendations of the Expediting Committee.

Mayor Smith pointed out in his letter that the city was not aware that the master plan for the Greenbelt area had been changed to incorporate multiple family zoning in the Glenn Dale Rd. - NASA area. He protested that no public hearings were held after these changes were made.

Jaycees Plan Meeting

Greenbelt's Junior Chamber of Commerce is beginning a large membership drive and a bid to become a strong organization. A membership meeting is planned for Thursday, April 30, at the American Legion Home at 8 p.m. The program will include a brief talk by the State President of the JC's, the main speaker will be the past President of the local group, Edgar L. Smith.

The group will sponsor a fund raising campaign for an appeal of the Jaeger rezoning case.

Garden Club

by Miriam K. Cornelius

Greenbelt Garden Club and all interested persons may hear advice from former Greenbelter Clayton Werner, at the GHI Community Room, Hamilton Place, at 8 p.m. Monday, April 27, on the subject of first plantings of vegetables and annual flowers. Mr. Werner, horticultural expert at the County Agents office, will answer questions and tell how to avoid some of the disappointments which enthusiasts encounter from unlucky purchases of seeds and plants, from hasty soil preparation, or from other unwise practices.

Problems which Mr. Werner will discuss include: (1) choice of varieties of tomatoes, etc., most likely to be successful locally; (2) fertilizers most needed to combat deficiencies in your own soil; (3) how to nurse seeds and baby plants until they can laugh at hostile environment; (4) how to get ahead of the pests with a minimum of the safer chemical elements.

Jaegar Decision To Be Appealed; Jaycees To Lead Drive To Help Pay $3,000 Cost

by Russ Greenbaum

After hearing the opinion of the city solicitor that the chances of success for an appeal were not too bright and receiving an estimate that it will cost about $3,000, the city council nevertheless at its regular meeting Monday night voted unanimously to appeal the Jaeger property zoning decision recently reaffirmed by Judge Bowie. The vote was 4-0, with Councilman William Hoff absent.

A means for alleviating the financial burden was immediately presented to council by Charles Collins representing the Greenbelt Junior Chamber of Commerce. He said that the Jaycees had agreed at a meeting last week that if the council decided to make the appeal, it would conduct a fund drive to help meet the expenses.

Collins said the drive would be started this week, with a booth set up at the shopping center on Saturday to solicit contributions. The major part of the cost is to meet the requirement of printing the court record. However, city solicitor Thomas Brooks has been told by council to obtain whatever legal assistance he feels is needed from an attorney skilled in zoning law.

The council will also urge the county commissioners to appeal the case since that would strengthen the city's case. After the first hearing before Judge Bowie the city entered the case as an aggrieved party on the grounds that it had not been officially notified of the hearing by the commissioners. Judge Bowie chose not to rule whether the city's claim to be an aggrieved party was valid.

Uphill Battle

The case will be heard by the Maryland Court of Appeals, which is the court of last resort in Maryland. Mayor Edgar Smith commented that the city had already realized that it would be an uphill fight and that he was not too surprised to see Judge Bowie ratify his previous action. Councilman Clifford Simonson said that an appeal would demonstrate that the council is determined to protect Greenbelt from becoming "the highest concentration of multiple housing this side of California." Councilman Lewis Bernstein also pressed for an appeal if there was any chance at all for success.

At one time it was thought that, if nothing else, an appeal would delay the start of construction of the planned high-rise apartment development in the Greenbelt Park area until Congress could appropriate funds to permit the National Park Service to buy the land and join it to the park. However, Mayor Smith noted the bill introduced by Congressman Richard Lankford is not likely to make headway.

School Registration May 1

Kindergarten and first grade registration will take place on May 1 from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 to 3 p.m. at North End and Center Schools. Springhill students will register at the Center School.

Parents should bring the child's birth certificate as proof of age. (Children entering the kindergarten must be five years by January 1, 1965.) Verification of the child's smallpox and diphtheria immunization must be presented to the school on or before the opening of school on Tuesday, September 8.

Festival of Music

The annual Prince Georges All-County Festival of Music will be presented on Friday, May 1, 8:15 p.m. at Fairmont Heights High School.

The senior high school chorus of 225 voices will be conducted by Mr. Don Regier, Supervisor of Vocal Music in Baltimore City. The program will include works of Mozart, Lotti and Copland.

The Youth Orchestra, under the direction of Professor Marvin Rabbin, of Boston University, will play numbers by Diemer, Bizet, and Katchaturian. Also included will be the Finale to Dvorak's "Symphony from the New World."

The public is cordially invited to attend this musical program. There is no admission charge.

now that Lankford has announced his retirement.

The mayor also reported Senator Daniel Brewster has promised to introduce a bill to purchase the land but can take no action until the civil rights debate has been completed, which will not be for several weeks. Furthermore, two bills have to be passed, one to authorize the purchase and another to appropriate the funds.

Swimming Pool Rates

Another major matter taken up by council was the setting of special rates for the use of the swimming pool by non-residents who are house guests of Greenbelt residents. City manager James Giese proposed to permit such guests to buy a group of ten adult tickets at $1.00 each rather than the individual rate of $1.25 and a group of 10 children tickets at 60 cents each rather than 75 cents for individual tickets.

Councilman Bernstein proposed that this rate be cut to 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children provided that residents bought ten adult guest tickets and ten children guest tickets at the time they bought their $20 season passes for a total of $32.50. Later on, they could buy additional tickets at the rates suggested by the city manager. Council accepted the Bernstein plan and requested Giese to prepare it in the form of a resolution.

In the discussion Giese revealed a solution to last year's problem of youngsters losing their cardboard season passes. Although cardboard passes will be issued to children initially since they are easier to mail, they can be exchanged for special tags that they can wear.

Foot Patrol

The council heard a report from the city manager regarding a request from the Greenbelt Shopping Center Association to assign a foot patrolman to the Center in the evening. He listed 13 incidents at the shopping center during the month of March requiring police action. However, only five of these involved disturbances that could have been prevented by a foot patrolman. These were three cases of a "man disturbing girls," one case of disorderly drunks, and one case of disorderly juveniles.

His conclusion was that it "would appear to be unwise to tie up the time and mobility of one officer by placing him in the shopping center." However, he noted that periodic foot patrolling could be carried out at the Center, and the council directed that this be done.

Police Chief

In connection with police matters, Charles Frederick, 3-A Eastway, questioned council on whether the new chief of police would be appointed from the ranks of present officers, which he advocated, or would an outsider again be selected. Mayor Smith explained that the city charter precluded the council from hiring or firing city officials and the selection of a new police chief was completely in the hands of the city manager.

He noted that the only role council plays is to set the job standards for the manager to follow in making his selection. He said he "did not know the manager's plans" for picking a new police chief.

City tidbits: The council instructed the city manager to install a street light at the entrance to the 8 court of Plateau Place to provide light for a new parking area where vandalism has occurred recently. Street lights were also ordered for Lakecrest Drive, Maplewood Court and Olivewood Court in the new Lakecrest Subdivision at the end of Lakeside.

100 PERCENT UNION?

To the Editor:

Last week's issue carried two letters on GCS affairs. One, by a former GCS board member and a person who has given many years of his life to co-ops, raised some pertinent questions about GCS. The other letter by Cornelius reported tersely on the answers I was given when I interrogated GCS board members about that letter; Cornelius' report was accurate but the answers I was given were neither accurate nor relevant to the question.

Al Herling charged in his letter of resignation from the GCS Congress that GCS gets support and preferred treatment from organized labor but has no regard for the conditions under which the goods it sells are manufactured or harvested. GCS gets but doesn't give, he said.

President Rosenzweig blandly answered my question on this charge by saying that GCS is 100 percent union, but he didn't discuss the matter of GCS disregard for the working conditions under which GCS-sold goods are produced. Board member Hoag also made answer without tackling that question. But this question isn't new to GCS nor should it be hard to understand.

Some time ago, GCS' own newspaper (the one for which GCS stockholders are charged 50 cents a year, deducted from our 4-percent stock dividend) carried a story warning consumers that we'll have to pay more for vegetables if pending legislation in Congress is passed. The legislation would have afforded a long-needed protection for the migrant field hands who harvest the crops. I protested this grower-inspired story at the Congress meeting following the story's appearance, and was shocked to be accused by the GCS president of having a "special interest." When I recovered sufficiently to ask what "special interest" I had, he replied that I was more interested in labor matters than are most people. That, of course, is not what most people understand by the term "special interest," and had I not interrogated, the impression would have been left that I was acting in behalf of some "special interest." My interest was and is in people and how their lives may be improved by unions, co-ops, and other means such as legislation. (This, incidentally, is a sample of public insult — but without private apology — such as Herling's letter alluded to.)

Is GCS' interest in getting things for sale cheap so great that we don't care what poverty, what disease, what ignorance, what social unrest may be created by the conditions under which goods are produced? I think not. That great co-op spokesman, Sarah Newman, Mrs. Washington Area Co-op, later wrote a letter to the GCS newspaper taking issue with the grower news story, and I think her approach is the one decent people will follow.

GCS is idealistic about how people live ABROAD. We let our former general manager help set up co-ops in Puerto Rico while he was on our payroll and our business was going downhill. We now solicit contributions to finance aid to co-

A LETTER OF THANKS

To the Editor:

I wish to express my appreciation to all of you who were involved in the tremendous performance of the Polio Clinic and P.T.A. bake sale which took place Sunday, April 19, 1964, at Center School.

Thanks to Mrs. G. Boisvert, Health Chairman, Center School P.T.A., whose excellent foresight and planning was responsible for the very efficient operation of the Clinic. The route from the registration table to the sugar cube was fast and effective.

Thanks to Mrs. C. Jones, Ways and Means Chairman, Center School P.T.A., Mrs. J. Willard and Mrs. H. White whose capability and perseverance paid off so well at the bake sale table.

Thanks to the rest of you who voluntarily gave your time and effort to make this endeavor the success it was.

Mrs. J. R. Bachtler, President
Greenbelt Center School P.T.A.

Vernon T. Fox

Former Greenbelter Vernon T. Fox, 53, of 503 Calvin Lane, Rockville, died April 13, at Holy Cross Hospital, Silver Spring.

Fox joined the American Red Cross as a carpenter in 1932, and rejoined the organization in 1946, after World War II service in the Pacific with the Seabees.

He is survived by his wife, Karen; a daughter, Marie S. Jones, and two sons, Vernon T., and Harry C. of 32-H Ridge.

ops abroad. But our buyers stock our shelves with largely cheap-labor manufactured goods; union labels, denoting at least minimum wage and fringe standards, are so rare among our apparel offerings I haven't been able to find them in the men's attire.

By the way, GCS help isn't 100-percent union. Ask at the gas station, for example. The food store is under union contract, negotiated at a different time (more advantageous to GCS?) than the other food chains' contracts. How about the part-owned bakery?

I have fought, during my past two-year term now drawing to an end, for store prices in Greenbelt as low as in the other GCS stores. I have fought for quality. I have fought for the availability of economy-sized packages as well as smaller ones. I have fought for the kind of packaging and labeling GCS tells the U.S. Congress we favor. I have fought for the right of GCS members and Congress members to have adequate information about GCS affairs. I have fought for election reform within GCS, both as to the ballot form, the election rules, and the information needed by nominators and voters to perform their jobs intelligently. I also have tried to help GCS become the organization of ideals it tries to be, tries to have people think it is, but isn't always. If you don't agree with my position, now is the time to act. Today, tomorrow, and Saturday, vote for five other candidates than myself in the GCS area delegation election, if you disagree with me.

ALICE IN CONSUMERLAND

To the Editor:

Alice was perplexed and frustrated. Everyone had told her there was a difference between a Business and a Cooperative. Now the Cooperative had gone and changed its name to Consumer Discount Store. Was it a Cooperative or was it a Business? That was the nub of it.

"Dear me, dear me," moaned Alice, "just when I had it all set-up straight in my mind too."

"Maybe I can help," volunteered the White Queen, "A Cooperative is owned by Consumers, but a business is owned by stockholders."

"But aren't stockholders Consumers too?" averred Alice.

"Good heavens, No!" proclaimed the Green King, "Everyone knows stockholders are only after profit."

"I told you not to use that filthy word," screeched the Red Queen, "wash out your mouth this instant!"

"Hi diddle diddle," chortled the March Hare.

"Sometimes," announced Alice, "I don't know what to think, I always thought that a stockholder even in a Cooperative deserves a profit too."

"You are confused, my dear," asserted the Green King to Alice, "Cooperatives are run by Consumers, not stockholders."

"Cooperatives by Consumers who are Stockholders, but stockholders running ordinary businesses for Gain for consumers," relayed the March Hare.

"Oh, shut-up," replied Alice, "what I want to know is does the G.C.S. Congress run the Co-op?"

"No!" shouted the Red King, "It's that wretched Mr. Rosenzweig; he wants to make a profit!"

The Red Queen collapsed and was carried away in an apoplectic fit, kicking feebly and frothing at the mouth.

"And doesn't it make sense that with a profit Mr. R. can pay his Consumers a dividend on their stock?" volunteered Alice. "I think that's why he changed the name to Consumer Discount Store, that way it's a Business first and a Cooperative as an afterthought."

"That's right," agreed the Green Jack, "I think Mr. Rosenzweig has seen the light and agrees that money makes the world go round, not Consumers."

"You all must be for Goldwater!" screamed the Red King. "I'm going to resign from the G.C.S. Congress and run for the Cooperative presidency!"

Alice sat down and closed her eyes. "He wants the delicatessen put back in the store," she said to no one in particular.

"Now look here," squawked the Green King, "he doesn't want the delicatessen at all; he just wants to restore The Genius of Cooperative Democracy."

"If he does," noted the Green Jack, "will he package it in standard weights?"

"Certainly!" yowled the Red King, "and furthermore we won't have it tested by the Pennsylvania Dept. of Agriculture or the University of Md. We'll test it right here in Greenbelt by feeding it to the squirrels."

"And we'll sell oodles of Economic Democracy," panted the Green King, "and we don't even have to test that."

"Hickory, dickory, dock," sang the March Hare.

Alice walked away shaking her head from side to side. Presently she absent-mindedly bumped into a man who resembled Mr. Ben Rosenzweig.

"What do you think about Cooperatives?" Alice asked the man.

"I think they are great," said the man, "as long as they make a profit."

"Amen," whispered Alice, "Amen."

Due to a conflict in the schedule for the Co-op Hospitality Room, there will be no duplicate bridge game tomorrow night, April 24. The next game will take place as regularly scheduled on the second Friday of the month, May 8.

"COLLECTION OF ERRORS"

To the Editor:

Apparently the GHI board has failed in at least one area if a member (Aram Beloian in last week's News-Review) can be so completely misinformed about his own corporation. I have never seen such a collection of errors in one letter in the News-Review.

First he complains that GHI is operating on a low-profit basis — which is the finest compliment possible for our board. Surely even Mr. Beloian can understand that "profit" (outside of the welcome but relatively minor contributions from GDC apartments, "planned" rebates on insurance, income from investment and from surplus funds) must come from him, and me, and the other members. Is he objecting to his low monthly charges? Has he priced houses or apartments lately?

Vacant land sold for $140? Land that we bought for $1000 per acre (at a total outlay of one dollar from GHI) and sold at a profit of many times $140 per acre. Profit that is now providing constant additional income to keep Mr. Beloian's charges down.

Such critics were strangely silent when he held that land, trying to plan and control its development. The "real" profit in real estate is in its development but this requires risk that our members were unwilling to assume and capital they were unable to provide. Two major builders resold this land without development — GHI could hardly hope to do more.

Particularly when the decision went against a very modest, non-speculative proposal for elderly housing. Why? Because of the outside chance it might not be a "ghetto" similar to the one in which the Beloians and Bowmans and others live (check your definition — a ghetto could be composed of $40,000 homes!).

It's amazing how the sales price for just the equity of the "jerry-made frame houses" far exceeds, in every case, the total original price (not the case in the original brick homes). If the land value ever does exceed the value of these houses (it hasn't yet but it may soon) it will be for a commercial proposal and

Holy Cross Lutheran 20th Anniversary

by E. M. Morse

On April 19 the members of Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 22 Ridge Rd., celebrated their 20th Anniversary as a church in Greenbelt at a dinner attended by a host of members and friends.

Mr. Edward Trumbule, one of the founders, recounted highlights of the history of Holy Cross from their first meetings in his living-room, which they soon outgrew, to the school auditorium and thence to our present location. He told of the lean years and those more prosperous, presaging that 1964 looks like the best yet.

That would seem to be true, as the assembled group started the new year by enjoying 80 pounds of fried chicken, heaping bowls of salads and vegetables, 16 pies, cupcakes and all the trimmings, provided by the ladies of the Lydia Guild. The Program Chairman, Mrs. Arthur Green, and her able committeewomen not only fed the multitude, but had the tables beautifully decorated with arrangements of spring flowers.

The Walther Leaguers entertained with their play, "A Certain Just Man", which had recently won them 3 trophies in a competition with other church groups. Our young Thespians, Nikki Helwig, Mary Klingner, Marilyn Ocker, Carol and Norma Sigler, Steve Stoll, Nancy and Richard Tatum, under the direction of Mr. Darwin Beck, did a fine job of presenting the play, a serious drama, and then, in a much lighter vein, gave us an imitation of "The Beatles", rag-mop wigs and guitars included. The "teenagers" from 5 to 65 years of age, completed the impression by screaming at the appropriate moments.

I expect Mr. Beloian will lead the opposite — in spite of the attractive "profits" that will be promised.

St. George's Day 268th Anniversary Founding of County

A marching bagpipe unit from the U.S. Air Force Band will again lead the St. George's Day parade and ceremonies in Upper Marlboro today, on the anniversary of the founding of Prince Georges County in 1696.

Ceremonies on the Court House portico will be climaxed by the traditional hoisting of the County flag, which was granted to Prince Georges in 1695 by the Maryland Colonial Assembly, one of the few times a County was granted colors. The flag was modified by County Commissioners last year for the first time since 1696 by inclusion of the County Seal in the upper left hand quadrant.

The first official action directed towards formation of Prince Georges County came on May 8, 1695, when the Maryland Colonial Assembly passed an act creating Prince Georges County in the Province of Maryland. On May 22, 1695, the Assembly decreed that the new county would be "erected" on April 23, St. Georges Day, of 1696.

The County was named after Danish Prince George, who became the Prince Consort to Queen Anne of England.

When it was founded, Prince Georges boundaries were the Patuxent River on the East, Mattawoman Creek on the South, Pennsylvania on the North and on the West to pass the Blue Ridge Mountains. The western boundary was indefinite — much of that area as yet unexplored. About 1,000 people inhabited the area at that time.

On August 22, 1695, Prince Georges County was granted colors for horse and foot soldiers and its flag was established as the St. George's Cross in red on a field of white.

In October 1696, the Justices of Prince Georges County applied to the Honorable Sir Thomas Lawrence Barronet (Secretary, Council of Maryland) for a seal for the County, and it was granted.

On November 25, 1958, the County Commissioners accepted and reaffirmed the Seal of the County and it is in wide use on official vehicles and other places.
